What is S.E.E.

The Seizures & Epilepsy Education (S.E.E.) is an international award-winning seminar about epilepsy.

It covers everything from what epilepsy is, how it is diagnosed, the latest advancements in treatment, ways to control difficult seizures, and the latest research about future treatments. S.E.E. includes the forgotten aspects of epilepsy treatment - things that many doctors don't know about that can give you an extra boost in seizure control. The program is so comprehensive and up-to-date that it has been approved to train physicians and nurses.

The Seizures & Epilepsy Education (S.E.E.) program is a two-day-long seminar. Each day is different. The program is given on weekends so that most people don't have to miss work to attend.

Robert J. Mittan, Ph.D. is a clinical neuropsychologist. He received a Ph.D. with Distinction at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville in 1981. Dr. Mittan received one of the largest psychosocial research grants for epilepsy awarded by the National Institutes of Health.
